WENTY BODIES FOUND IN CHERRY COAL MINE

Body Brought Out, and It Is Thought Others Will Soon Be Recovered.

ERRY, Ill., Nov. 19.—For the first since the mine horror of Satur- bodies of some of the 300 vic- were located yesterday by daring rers in the depths of the second enty bodies were found within eet of the ventilating shaft. of them, unrecognizable, was t to the surface and after con- ble delay was taken to the town to await identification. The tem- the people was feared and an pt to keep secret the finding of bodies was made. Those in au- y bound themselves to maintain That more than one victim en discovered was not generally at nightfall and a plan was to attempt the removal of the bodies late at night.

e one brought to the surface was ed for an hour at the top of t before being turned over to dertaker, and then only because discovery had become known. he horrors which they encoun- n the mine gallery none of the rs would speak, but their ere pale and their hands trem- hen they emerged. This much rned—the bodies were scorched, swollen. Death might have been ther to gas or flame. After the al of the body the experts held conference and upon conditions f it determined to break the the main shaft at once. A of laborers was ordered to rk and by 5 o'clock the unseal- aft was belching out gases and Preparations were made at reduce the temperature in the ubstitute fan, placed at the beside the old one near the air was started, its direction re- ersed so as to pull the smoke the ventilator. As soon as the helmet-armored mine ex- descended in the shaft with of hose prepared to fight the coal in the second gallery. effort is successful, firemen helmets will be sent down the to put out the fire when they it with safety.

s of the recovery of the first spread rapidly through the vill- and as the ambulance, flanked oldiers, passed through the women rushed out of their pushed fractically through the in a vain attempt to look into gine. Rumor was that the body ost of a boy. Mothers who lost ons in the mine pushed for- and were told that the body was of a man.

ediately a score of women who had lost their husbands pressed toward the wagon. State's Attorney Eckhart gently told them that identification would require some time and the crowd thinned away from the wagon, but until late at night the little brick morgue was surrounded by anxious inquiries.

The recovered body was identified as that of Ole Friborg, unmarried. Seven volunteers carried hose into the main shaft last night and turned a stream of water on the burning second gallery.

With the recovery of one body, believed to be that of Ole Friberg, the discovery of nineteen others, which could not be brought to the surface, and a determined attack on the fire that is burning in the main pit, progress towards the reaching of the 300 bodies in the St. Paul progressed more rapidly than at any other time since the fire started on Saturday.

Water Directed on Air Shaft.

The air shaft following the exploration that resulted in the finding of twenty dead, was closed last night and a full stream of water was directed into it.

Then the main shaft was opened. The temperature of this shaft has been well over 100 degrees, but continuous sprinkling today reduced it to about 90 degrees.

Men in helmets first descended to the fatal second gallery. They reported the mouth of the drift blocked by timbers and mud, but the fact that their safety lamps were not extinguished indicated the absence of black damp.

The next squad to descend went without helmets and reported conditions perfect for an attack on the flames within the gallery. A great difficulty was experienced in lowering a sufficient length of hose.

Various crews made the descent. They reported there was little heat at the mouth of the gallery, but that search for bodies would not be practicable until the blocked openings had been cleared of debris. This promised to be a tedius process and it was predicted that the work would require at least eighteen hours.

Beyond those obstructions the dead are believed to lie in heaps.

Charity work progresses rapidly. Director E. P. Bickness, of the American Red Cross Society, after visiting many homes, reported that 105 out of 185 families had been given a week's supply of groceries each.

Reports from storm-swept Jamaica indicate that the banana trust may be the next great corporation to be tearfully compelled to advance prices.

ate May Collect Sum of $200,000 From Autoists

ANE, Wash., Nov. 19.—Four dollars in fees, due to the Washington from owners of obiles operating without num- with numbers which have not ed for, will be swelled to $200,- fines if the "tip" given to the and constabulary by I. W. How- tary of State, is followed up. ouring of a State license is r of it, while the penalty for pliance with the law is a fine to say nothing of court costs. y of State Howell has re- the Democrats to keep a close watch for offenders and arrest and prosecute all owners of machines who are using old tags or driving without numbers. The policemen say it is no small matter to remember all the numbers in a list covering from 20 to 25 closely type-written pages, and, as no arrests have been made so far, it is likely that other means will be adopted to force the autoists to take out licenses. In the meantime the joy-riders and owners without numbers are laying back, happy in the belief they have bested the State department.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Members of Holy Trinity Church Mourn for Dr. N. D. Phillips.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the vestry of Holy Trinity church, held on November 8th, 1909:

"Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst Dr. Newton DeKalb Phillips, for many years a member of the Vestry and Junior Warden of Holy Trinity Parish, and,

"Whereas, we are desirous of expressing, and placing upon record, our appreciation of the high character and eminent distinction of the deceased, as a man, and as a physician, and our love and affection for him as a member of this body; Therefore be it

"Resolved by the Vestry of Holy Trinity church, that in the death of Dr. Phillips we have lost a true friend whom we loved and admired, because of his many noble traits of character, the gentleness and manliness of his nature, his sound judgment, undaunted courage and keen sense of right and justice.

"Resolved, further, That we do extend to the family of the deceased our warmest sympathy in their affliction, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, and a copy sent to the family of deceased, and published in The Parish Leaflet and Gainesville Sun.

"C. R. LAYTON,
"Secretary."

A BIG LAND DEAL.

T. J. Cone Purchases Valuable Property in Wacahoota Section.

A real estate deal of considerable importance has just been closed, wherein T. Jennings Cone, the naval stores operator and lumber manufacturer of Raleigh, has come into possession of a tract of land known as the King property.

This tract comprises one thousand acres, and it is composed of timber and farming land. There is yet considerable fine timber on the property, and it is said that for farming there is no better land in that section of the county.

The property is located near Wacahoota, and adjacent to Mr. Cone's large naval stores and milling interests.

The price paid was not stated, although it is understood that it aggregated in the neighborhood of $4,000.

Revival at Methodist Church.

Yesterday morning's service was one of the best. Dr. Christian's sermon was listened to with the closest attention, by a very good congregation. Everyone felt the presence of the Holy Spirit.

At night the sermon was one of great power. The subject was the "Three Steps to Ruin." First step, looking; second step, considering; third, taking.

The effect of this sermon on the congregation was wonderful. The half-hour song service is very inspiring.

The leader and the choir seem to be singing with spirit and the gospel is being preached in song.

Let everybody come and do his part in this effort to save the unsaved in Gainesville.

There will be service this morning at 9:30, but no services in the evening.

Pellagra Patient Improving.

Dr. J. H. Colson, who is treating the case of pellagra in the vicinity of Rochelle, which is the only case so far known in the county, stated Friday that the patient is rapidly improving, and that he hopes to entirely eliminate all traces of the disease in a short while.

The case appears to be a mild one, but the physician declares it to be pellagra, just the same. He also feels sure that the patient will come out all right, with the proper care and treatment, both of which she is receiving.

AMERICAN CRUISERS PROCEEDING TO NICARAGUA

President Zelaya Has Ordered Two Americans Found With Revolutionists Executed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Two American vessels have been ordered to proceed to Nicaraguan waters and President Taft has postponed indefinitely his meeting of Isidore Hasera, the new minister from Nicaragua to this country, as the result of news received here to the effect that two Americans, Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, captured while serving with the revolutionists army in Nicaragua, have been sentenced to death by President Zelaya's orders and it is believed that sentence has already been carried out.

Orders have been issued for the cruiser Vicksburg to proceed in all haste to Corinto and the gunboat Des Moines will proceed at once to Port Limon to observe events there and report the situation at the point by wireless.

The news as to the two Americans reached the State Department Thursday night from the American consul at Managua, who stated that their capture had been followed almost immediately by a death sentence.

The consul immediately appealed to President Zelaya to commute their sentences and his answer was "I will see." Later, on further appeal, Zelaya said that "the sentence was final."

A dispatch received yesterday at the State Department is to the effect that the men have undoubtedly been executed.

Upon this information the Secretary of State asked the Secretary of the Navy to order the Vicksburg to proceed in all haste to Corinto for the purpose of protecting Americans and American interests. The Des Moines was also ordered to proceed to Port Limon at top speed for the same purpose. These vessels will be in constant communication by wireless with the State Department.

The Des Moines, now at Colon, can reach Port Limon within ten hours, steaming under forced draught. The Vicksburg is on the Pacific Coast at San Jose De Guatemala, nearly 200 miles from the Nicaraguan coast, and will be able to reach Corinto at about the same time the Des Moines arrives at Port Limon.

The brutality of the Nicaraguan government in ordering the execution of these two Americans who happened to be found in the revolutionists' army, without trial of any sort, is likely to result in this Government's taking drastic measures to prevent a repetition of it and President Zelaya will be held to a strict accountability for his action.

President Taft Incensed.

President Taft, upon receipt of news, was so incensed that he immediately announced he would have no communication with the new Nicaraguan minister. That official was promptly so informed.

At the Nicaraguan legation it was stated that no news of the execution of the two Americans had been received.

Nothing is known at the State Department of the antecedents of Leonard Grace, who is reported to have been shot by order of President Zelaya, but the other American, Leroy Cannon, seems to have had an unusual career in Central America. Some years ago he went to Central America and since then his name has figured prominently in revolutions in those countries. During his career he has been arrested a number of times and tried for heading raids and on several occasions has narrowly escaped a death sentence, it is alleged.

The action of this Government in sending the two warships into Nicaraguan territory is not to be regarded as a warlike demonstration against that country. These vessels will report developments in Nicaragua as promptly as possible and will not assume a belligerent attitude except in case of extreme need.

The State Department has already taken steps to ascertain all of the material facts connected with the capture and supposed execution of Cannon and Grace, and when this information is received the Government will take such action as the case may warrant.

Neck of Dr. Elliott Is Saved by Gov. Brown

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—Governor Brown last night commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Dr. J. M. Elliott, of LaGrange, who was to be hanged today for the murder of G. L. Rivers in September, 1908.

Elliott killed Rivers while he and his family were guests at Rivers' hotel at LaGrange. Elliott shot the hotel man, it was said, in a jealous frenzy, charging him with improprieties toward Mrs. Elliott. At the trial and later there developed nothing to bear out Elliott's delusion.

For several years before moving to LaGrange he lived in Macon. Many of the best citizens, including physicians, of that place and Chattanooga, his birth place, made strong appeals to Governor Brown to commute the sentence, believing him mentally unbalanced. It is declared by many that he was addicted to the use of two deadly drugs for many years, and while he was a resident of Macon he attempted to kill two men, one of whom was badly injured.

Thus is terminated one of the most famous murder trials in the history of this State. Thrice a date of execution of Elliott had been set, on two occasions brief respites by the Governor saving him from the hangman's noose.

Two weeks ago Elliott swallowed a large dose of bichloride of mercury in the county jail at LaGrange and because of his critical condition the day following, Friday, Nov. 5, Governor Brown granted him a reprieve for two weeks.

It was late last night when Governor Brown announced his decision his commute Elliott's sentence and his reasons were not announced. It is believed, however, that the question of Elliott's sanity, stressed by his attorneys and friends, had weight with the Governor.

TERM OF COURT A RECORD BREAKER

COURT OFFICIALS GOT DOWN TO BUSINESS IN SHORT ORDER.

Large Docket Disposed Of, But Term Will Be Week Shorter Than Any Previous Session.

With one more case to try on the criminal docket, the fall term of the Circuit Court, in and for the Eighth Judicial Circuit, Alachua county, which will have been in session two weeks, will go down as one of the shortest regular terms on record in Alachua county, and to this fact the thanks of the people of the county are due His Honor Judge J. T. Wills, State Attorney J. M. Rivers, Sheriff Ramsey, Clerk Wienges and all other court officials, as well as the members of the bar in general, all of whom worked with the greatest harmony in the transaction of all business coming before the court.

As a rule, not less than three weeks have been required to finish the business of a term, but in the majority of instances from four to five weeks are required. But the court is now down to a system admirable, and in future, if this system is maintained, the record of long and tedious terms will be a thing of the past.

Notwithstanding that there was the usual heavy docket, everything went so smoothly that the cases were disposed of with commendable promptness, thus saving several hundred dollars' expense to the tax-payers of the county, and the patience of a number of jurors and witnesses who were called away from their homes.

There is only one more case to come to trial on the criminal docket, that of the State vs. Electra Peeples, charged with assault with intent to murder.

The court was called to order at 9 o'clock Friday morning and the following business was disposed of:

State vs. Wallace Felder, larceny of a horse. Tried by jury, J. M. Love, foreman, and after hearing evidence and argument in the case a verdict of guilty as charged was returned, and Felder was sentenced to three years in State prison.

Sentences were imposed upon convicted prisoners as follows:

Jim Johnson and James Hunt, tying mule on railroad track, five years each in State prison.

Jim Lundy, murder in third degree, two years in State prison.

Alberta McQueen, who plead guilty to manslaughter, three years in State prison.

Jim Mulberry, selling liquor, $50 and costs or four months in county prison.

Will Mitchell, grand larceny, one year in State prison.

Rosa Ravinell, grand larceny, plead guilty to petit larceny, $5 and costs or thirty days in county jail.

The court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning, when the business of the term will be concluded.

Got the Wrong Man.

Deputy Sheriff Geo. W. Livingston of Newberry returned to this city Thursday from Thomasville, Ga., having in custody a negro supposed to have been Ed Simmons, charged with assault with intent to murder, the crime occurring near Newberry several months ago, and who was arrested by officials of Thomas county, Ga., by descriptions which had been furnished them.

The negro was placed in prison here, but furnished evidence sufficient to prove that he was not the man wanted, and was released.

It was rumored that a telegram was received from the authorities at Brunswick, Ga., Friday morning, bearing information that Simmons had been arrested at that point, but this rumor could not be verified, as Officer Livingston had left the city.

No blame can be attached to the officials of this county in the arrest of this man at Thomasville, neither can the blame be laid at the feet of the Georgia officials, who were working by description, and the man arrested so closely resembled Simmons that it was a difficult matter to distinguish one from the other. However, there is no harm done, and "everybody is happy."

In Honor of Miss Price.

Miss Edelweiss Price of Micanopy, who has been visiting Miss Alma Fennell for the past two weeks, returned to her home yesterday, to the regret of her many friends.

While here Miss Price had several entertainments given in her honor. Special mention is that given by Miss Fennell to the Kappa Alpha Fraternity of Florida and their friends. The house was prettily decorated with palms, ferns and red roses, the latter being the flower of the fraternity.

In one room was an "observation table," Miss Pearl Colson being the winner of a lovely U. of F. banner, the prize given for remembering the most articles on the table, Miss Vidal and Mr. William Shands receiving the booby.

Another amusement consisted of a hunt for the North Pole, in which the young men had a regular Cook and Peary scramble. Mr. Younglove was rewarded with a "Cook" for being the finder.

Some beautiful selections of music were rendered and during the evening delicious refreshments were served in courses.

When the time came for parting everyone thanked the charming hostess and her lovely guest of honor for a most delightful evening.

The Gainesville National Bank.

Attention is directed to the display advertisement of the Gainesville National Bank elsewhere in this issue. This bank, which opened for business July 22nd, 1907, has been a success from the beginning, having deposits in round numbers of $150,000 on November 16th, 1907, $300,000 the same day in 1908, and $405,000 the same day this year. It has earned more than $42,500, from which it has paid $17,500 in dividends. Gainesville should be proud of its youngest bank.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING.

Large Number of Ladies Met at Home of Mrs. Patterson.

The Mothers' Meeting held at the pretty suburban home of Mrs. M. J. Patterson of North Gainesville on Monday afternoon of this week was enjoyed by all who were so fortunate as to attend. Carriages and autos were furnished by the ladies in charge of the meeting for all who wished to go. About twenty-five ladies were present from the city and nearly as many from North Gainesville.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Cline and was one of the most interesting ones.

After the usual devotional exercise the following program was carried out:

The subject, "The Religion of a Little Child," claimed the close attention of mothers (and some who were not), mothers not being the only ones who are interested in the children's welfare.

Mrs. Ackley gave a reading that was most interesting, which was a sermon preached by Rev. T. M. Slicer of New York City, which gave the subject. Dr. Slicer says he would say the real dawn of religion in a child is in its mother's face. She is all in all to the child in those first years and awful indeed for the child if it fails to find her a woman of noble, Christian character. Dr. Slicer says, "We were brought up to believe that the religion of the New Testament was not a thing superimposed, but something belonging to life."

Mrs. Webster's paper on "The Children's Sabbath," was very interesting, with good suggestions on how to make this day a pleasant one for the active little souls. These were followed by several good articles read by Mesdames Campbell, Martine and Sandborn.

Mrs. Margaret Patterson then read the following original poem written the first year of her motherhood:

"Send the children to bed with a kiss and a smile,
Sweet children will tarry at best but a while,
And soon they will pass from the portals of home,
The wilderness ways of their life-work to roam.

"Yes, tuck them in bed with a gentle good-night,
The mantle of shadows is veiling the light,
And maybe—God knows—on this sweet little face
May fall deeper shadows in life's weary race.

"Yes, say it; God bless my dear children, I pray,
It may be the last time you will say it for aye—
The night may be long ere you see them again,
And motherless children may call you in vain.

"Drop sweet benedictions on each little head
And fold them in prayer as they nestle in bed,
A guard of bright angels around them invite—
The spirit may slip from its moorings tonight."

There were many tear-dimmed eyes after the reading of this tender little mother poem, and right here Mrs. Hart of Paradise saved the day by reading, "How Uncle Jerry Snow Backslid." "Uncle Jerry" owned a colt who possessed speed and the story tells how "Uncle Jerry" (like some of the rest of us) argued with his conscience about whether it was right or wrong for him to have his colt trot at the county fair. Mrs. Hart's interpretation of the story was fine and left everyone smiling. At the close of the program Mrs. Doig in a few chosen words presented Mrs. Julia D. Turner, former faithful president of W. C. T. U., with a life membership certificate. The ladies were then served with dainty refreshments consisting of lovely cake and most refreshing cool drinks served by the two Mrs. Pattersons.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

Dyspepsia is America's curse. Burdock Blood Bitters conquers dyspepsia every time. It drives out impurities, tones the stomach, restores perfect digestion, normal weight, and good health.

W. Ellery Davis of Starke was a visitor to this city yesterday. Mr. Davis was formerly engaged in the insurance business at Starke, but is conducting a farm, which he declares is not only more healthful, but more profitable.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Phifer and grand-daughter, little Miss Evelyn Story, of Windsor, were in the city yesterday. Mrs. Phifer and Miss Evelyn were en route home from High Springs, where they have been on a visit to relatives.

R. S. Bradley and daughter, Miss Claudia, were in the city from Wacahoota yesterday. Miss Bradley is one of the brightest young women of Alachua county, and not only her parents, but all who know her are proud of her achievements.

W. M. Bullard, agent of the Seaboard Air Line railroad at this point, has returned from North Carolina, where he was summoned a few days ago on account of the illness of his brother. Friends will be glad to learn that he left the patient much improved.

Miss Emma Boyd of Charlotte, N. C., has accepted a position as stewardess at the Brown House, and will have charge of the culinary department. Miss Boyd has had many years experience in some of the leading hotels in the country, and is one of the most competent in her position in this section of the country.

Lee Hoffman, for some time manager of the commissary of Phillips & McEachen at Meredith, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Hoffman has purchased a stock of general merchandise at Starke, his former home, where he will again engage in business for himself. He is possessed of a disposition congenial, which means success.

John F. Bartleson, for several years a prominent citizen and business man of this city but now residing in Jacksonville, writes friends that he expects to arrive in the city with his son today, and will immediately go to the Haile homestead, Kanapaha, for a week's shooting. Mr. Bartleson is a great sportsman, and at one time held the record at quail shooting for this section. His friends will be glad to welcome him.

Mrs. O. S. Lanier of Bartow, after a pleasant visit to Mrs. W. B. Taylor in this city, left Thursday for Dunnellon, where she will join her husband. Mr. Lanier has been engaged for some time in the vicinity of Dunnellon as a railroad contractor, and his duties were of such uncertain duration that he wrote Mrs. Lanier to call by on her way home to see him. Mrs. Lanier is a lady of charming personality, and as Mrs. Taylor's guest enjoyed the pleasant privilege of meeting many of the society ladies of the city, all of whom admired her.

Mrs. Mayme Abel, formerly of Jacksonville but more recently from Kentucky, has arrived in the city, having come to the G. W. Hyde Company's to fill an important position in the beautiful ready-to-wear department. That she is well adapted to fill this responsible position is evidenced by the successful start she has made. Mrs. Abel is most favorably known in Jacksonville, and has a host of friends, and will soon have the confidence and esteem of all who meet her here. We hope to have her valuable acquisition to Gainesville for a long time to come.

REAL ESTATE ON MOVE.

Several Big Deals Now in Contemplation, Which May Be Closed.

Real estate in Alachua county continues on the move, which is best evidence of the prosperity of the county. This activity is not confined to one section, but throughout the entire county the same condition exists, and many of the applicants for lands come from parties who are non-residents, but are investigating with a view of locating in this section of the State.

There are at present two or three important deals on foot, but The Sun is unable at this time to make any definite announcement. This will be published as soon as the deeds and other papers are properly executed.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Governor Albert W. Gilchrist has issued the following proclamation:

"State of Florida, Executive Chamber.

"A most beautiful custom has become established, that at least one day in the year be set aside to be devoted to rendering thanks to the Giver of all good gifts and graces for his manifold blessings to the people of our State and our nation.

"We should all be thankful for the incomparable privileges of living in such an enlightened age of this beautiful world, and for the especial privilege of living in such a nation and in such a State.

"Therefore, in accordance with the honored custom and in accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States, I hereby designate Thursday, November 25, 1909, as a Day of Thanksgiving, and recommend its appropriate observance as such.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed at Tallahassee, the Capital, this 17th day of November, A. D. 1909.

"ALBERT W. GILCHRIST,
"Governor of Florida.

"By the Governor, Attest: H. CLAY CRAWFORD, Secretary of State."

Another sign of the transition from the Million Dollar Age to the Billion Dollar Age is appearing on the horizon.

Death of the inventor of the threshing machine emphasizes the enormous advance in agricultural science and practice made within the lifetime of one man.

Now that four messages may be dispatched over a single cable simultaneously the war correspondent who achieves a scoop by keeping the cable busy will have to be a regular Caesar of a dictator.

A Mississippi woman has been sentenced to seven years in the State penitentiary for the theft of five eggs and a half pound of butter. At present prices this constitutes an act of grand larceny.

By the will of the late Mrs. H. B. Plant the family of W. B. Wrenn will receive sums aggregating $55,000. Mr. Wrenn was for many years manager of Mr. Plant's railroad interests prior to the change in the system, and this recognition of his services to her husband is a beautiful testimonial of Mrs. Plant's goodness of heart. Mr. Wrenn died comparatively a poor man.

A prominent city official has the poultry raisers "on the run." In relating his experience in raising poultry he told yesterday of having set a hen with fifteen eggs. After the proper length of time had elapsed the proud mother hen strutted through the yard with seventeen chicks. Upon examination it was found that three eggs still remained in the nest, two of which contained live chicks. Pretty good for a fifteen-egg proposition, eh?—Ocala Banner.

THE ONE MEANS OF RELIEF.

On October 27th the car shortage amounted to 36,000 cars, an increase in the short space of two weeks from a shortage of 23,000 reported on October 7th, with the certainty of further decrease in the number of freight cars, a fact which shipper and receiver must face and for the added cost of which the entire country must pay. The fact that the great railway systems are placing orders for more cars gives no sign of present relief, nor does the fact argue for relief in the future. It is always to be remembered that the growth of trade and commerce far outstrip the efforts of the railways to keep pace with it. To believe otherwise would be to deny the patent facts of past growth, so enormous and so continuous, as to call from President Hill the statement that it would cost the railways of the country the expenditure of $1,000,000,000 annually for five years to come up to the demands of trade and commerce.

It was a frank confession. But it was a confession which carries its own refutation with it. While the railways were engaged in their expenditure of $1,000,000,000 annually, the country would be developing at a rate even greater, and the catching up of the railways could be accomplished only on the impossible condition that the trade and commerce of all sections of the United States should remain at a standstill.

There is but one method through which relief from car shortage can be had. That method is in the improvement of the inland waterways of the country. With the inland waterways improved, the additional facilities demanded by shippers by rail could be afforded. The fact of enormous development, and the fact that with each year the car shortages grow more serious and more costly and disastrous, are the surest guarantee that there are freight offerings amply sufficient in volume to tax the capacity of both means of transportation, and that the relief which shippers and receivers demand would enure to the relief of the railway.

There cannot, in the nature of things, be hostility in competition between the river and the rail. Last year the upper Ohio held in leash for more than six months 15,000,000 bushels of coal which the manufacturing interests of the midde and lower Ohio needed and could not have, because of the continued low water in the Ohio. At Ogden, in Utah, there are now 75,000 tons of sugar beets awaiting the time when the railways can handle them. Because of low water in the Ohio the 15,000,000 bushels of coal were valueless. So are the 75,000 tons of sugar beets, with the lack of value extending to the labor that would have been employed in the factories if the coal had been received or if the sugar beets could be moved.

Without means of transportation, production is a waste of time and money. With improvement of the waterways production would be stimulated because of the certainty of reaching a market. The proposition is self evident, but it cannot be brought to accomplishment without the adoption of a settled policy on the part of the Federal Government, such as the National Rivers and Harbors Congress advances, and such as must, eventually, be adopted by the Congress of the United States. The coming session of the Congress at Washington on December 8, 9 and 10, will outstrip its predecessors in the fact that it will assemble with the knowledge that its platform—"A Policy; Not a Project"—meets with the cordial approval of all interests, with only persistence needed to produce the desired result.

With 15-cent short staple cotton and long staple at double that price why do not our South Carolina farmers take into consideration the planting of this money-making crop? The farmers of the State above us are getting rich on cotton and in upper Florida the growers of Sea Island cotton are looking as "sassy" as orange growers. This section of the State at one time was very successful in growing the fleecy crop and at present prices there would be a mint of money in it for those who plant next year.—Orange County Citizen. Yes, at present prices. But the prices mentioned by The Citizen are due, mainly, to the combined effects of discouragement over the lower prices of recent years leading many planters to restrict their acreage and of the bad weather which ruined so much of the cotton in the fields. Next year may see a "bumper" crop and the planters may not find it easy to hold cotton for better prices which the manufacturers will refuse to give in the face of a big "visible supply."—Times-Union Short Talks.

It is not every rancher in the Northwest who can have a private tutor for his children, but E. Hostetters of district No. 96, three miles north of Elberton, Wash., has one in his family. He is the father of the only children of school age in the district, of which he is also clerk and director, and rather than throw the teacher out of work by closing the school, he has decided to have the tutor go to his house, where the youngsters are taught the three R's. The regular program of school work is carried out the same as if the children were in a school house instead of right at home under their parents' eyes. The teacher is paid by the school district, which is composed entirely of farmers, who approved Mr. Hostetters' plan. The Hostetters children are making progress and the teacher is popular with their elders as well as members of the board.

MAN OF MILLIONS COMES TO TOWN

PRESIDENT OF ELGIN WATCH CO. PAYS GAINESVILLE A VISIT.

Has Long Had Faith in Florida, Which Has Never Been Shaken, and Owns Property in State.

Among the most prominent visitors of the year to Gainesville is Chas. H. Hulburd of Chicago, president of the Elgin National Watch Company, one of the wealthiest concerns of its kind in the world, who spent Thursday here as a guest of Hon. Henry S. Chubb, his former friend.

Mr. Hulburd resembles more a business man of the ordinary time than the thrice millionaire that he is. He dresses in plain clothes, has the air of a good, clever, fellow—and carries it out—and one would think without knowing that he was just 'an ordinary fellow." His manner is plain, his disposition frank and domestic, and his general appearance would not indicate that he was any more than an ordinary business man, struggling for the existence of a living.

But Mr. Hulburd is greater, because he is at the head of one of the leading watch manufactories of the world.

Mr. Hulburd has always been interested in Florida, and is a friend of the State and its people. He owns Heather Island, a tract embracing 4,000 acres in Marion county, where a large and handsome orange grove existed before the fatal freeze of 1894-5. He is still cultivating the property, however, and was en route to Heather Island, where he will spend the winter.

Bazaar a Success.

The societies of the Presbyterian church wish to thank each and everyone who did their part towards making the Bazaar the grand success it was. To the merchants, as well as the individuals who contributed so generously and so heartily; to The Sun, through whose columns our Bazaar was made known to the public, and which has always been so ready and willing to aid us in this important way; to the Masons we take off our hats—for the use of their magnificent Temple we are thankful and stand pledged to assist them at any time and in every way in our power. To the public who gave us such a grand rush, we do appreciate it so heartily.

To all we extend thanks, and can only say that we are grateful.

A Curious Trail.

All sorts of devices have been used to mark a line of march. A unique method of "blazing the trail" is still to be seen in Africa, and a recent publication prints a picture of one of these memorials of the dervish raid. Arthur J. Hayes mentions the subject in his "Source of the Blue Nile."

In 1889, after a fierce battle with the Abyssinians, the dervishes pursued their foes as far as the lake district. The mahdi's men had small knowledge of geography and little topographical intelligence. So the advance party, in order to mark the route for those who came after and also to guide the force on their return journey, twisted the saplings along the way into living knots. The war ended, but the tied up trees grew and flourished, but uncouthly twisted and distorted, and are now the only reminders of that uprising of the dervishes.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater, still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, East London, etc.; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

LETTER OF THANKS.

St. Augustine Episcopal Mission Is Grateful to Benefactor.

The Sun has been requested to publish the following:

"Gainesville, Fla., Nov. 16, 1909.

"To the Members of the Vestry of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in This City: We, the members of the vestry of St. Augustine's Episcopal Mission in this city, beg to acknowledge, with sincere and grateful hearts, the receipt of the very beautiful and valuable cross you so kindly donated to the Mission church. In fact, the St. Augustine's Mission is indebted to the Christian benevolence of Holy Trinity church for its very existence, and when we reflect upon the kind and sympathetic relation which Holy Trinity has ever sustained towards the Mission church, we cannot but cherish a fond and endeared recollection of Holy Trinity.

"Kind friends, words are inadequate to express how much you have contributed to the uplift of the negro as a race in this community struggling for better conditions and for citizenship, when by your Christian kindness God has made it possible for the race to come in touch with the wholesome influence of the Episcopal Church.

"As we see it, whatever your generous hearts and hands will and can do for the development of the St. Augustine's Mission in this city, it is to mould and foster moral and Christian character in the lives of most needy citizens.

"Again we ask, please accept our sincere and hearty thanks for your kindness. We remain,

"Gratefully yours,
"J. SPEIGHT,
"Minister.

Savona.

The history of Savona is that of a long struggle with the Genoese, ended in the sixteenth century, when they seized the town and rendered its harbor useless by sinking vessels filled with stones at the entrance. In 1746 it was captured by Sardinia, but was soon back again under the control of Genoa. The ancient Savo where Mago stored his booty in the second Punic war, Savona was the birthplace of the popes Sixtus IV. and Julius II. and the home of the ancestors of Columbus, who bestowed its name on one of the first islands he discovered in the West Indies.—London Standard.

Mistake in the Bill.

A gentleman, says Modern Women, who recently returned from a tour in Spain tells this story:

I left Seville on foot after a stay of a week and was twenty miles away when I was overtaken by the landlord of the hotel in which I had stayed. The innkeeper rode beside me for nearly an hour before he found courage to make known his business.

"'F the senor and God please," he began apologetically, "I made a mistake in his bill yesterday."

"How?" I inquired.

"I forgot to make a charge for his candles to light him to bed."

"But it was moonlight, and I had no candles."

"Then, senor, with the help of God, I forgot to charge you with the moonlight."

The charge amounted to 2 cents in American money, and he had hired an ass and ridden twenty miles to collect it. I was amused and astonished. Then I accused him of being a robber and offered him a cent to settle the bill. He worked up a beautiful smile and held out his hand.

"I will take it, with thanks, senor," he said. "God will bless you for an honest man!"

A Broken Back.

That pain in your back caused by lumbago, stiff muscles or a strain, is an easy thing to get rid of. Ballard's Snow Liniment cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore and stiff muscles, strains, sprains, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds and all aches and pains. You need a bottle in your house. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Sixteenth Century Meals.

Judging from a passage in Harrison's "Description of Britain," breakfast eating in the sixteenth century was held to denote effeminacy. "Heretofore," he writes, "there hath been more time spent in eating and drinking than commonly is in these days, for, whereas of old we had breakfasts in the forenoon, beverages or nuntion after dinner and thereto reare suppers when it was time to go to rest, now these old repasts, thanked be Goda, are verie well left, and ech one (except here and there some young hungrie stomach that cannot fast till dinner time) contenteth himself with dinner and supper onlie. * * * The nobilitie, gentrie and students ordinarilie go to dinner at 11 before noon and to supper at 5 or between 5 and 6 at afternoon. The merchants dine and sup seldom before 12 at noon and 6 at night, especialie in London. The husbandmen dine also at high noon and sup at 7 or 8, but out of the fearme in our universities the scholars dine at 10."

Is something a real estate investor will never do without—it's his sole protection against a faulty title. Why not have us draw you up an abstract of your prospective investment so that you'll not be buying something "in the dark?" The cost is certainly nominal—and when compared with the amount involved looks ridiculous indeed to do without it.

TRIAL BY RICE.

The Way Suspected Criminals In Bengal Are Treated.

They have peculiar methods of trying suspects in Bengal. One of these is called "trial by rice," says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. After a theft had been consulted as to an auspicious day every person suspected and those who were usually near the place at night were ordered to be present at 10 o'clock that morning. On that date all turned up. First the people were made to sit in a semicircle, and a "plate" (a square of plantain leaf) was set before each. Then the priest walked up and down chanting and scattering flowers. These said flowers, by the way, must be picked by a Brahman and they must be those which are facing the sun. This ceremony over, one of the clerks went to each man and gave him about two ounces of dry raw rice and told him to chew it to a pulp. Then commenced what looked like a chewing match. After about ten minutes had elapsed they were told to stop and eject it into the plaintain leaf. All did so easily with the exception of three men. In the case of these three the chewed rice had in two cases become slightly moistened, but not sufficiently so to allow of its being easily ejected, and they had much ado to get rid of it. The third man had chewed his into paste, and it came out as such, perfectly dry. One of these three men promptly commenced to cry and begged for mercy, confessing everything and stating that man No. 3, who had acted as a kind of flour mill, was the chief instigator. It is a curious fact that fear, arising from an evil conscience, prevents saliva coming to the mouth, with the result described.

GOOD IN SPIDERS.

They Don't Bite and Do Kill Many Injurious Insects.

I think it can be said that there never has been one absolutely authenthe case of spider bite. The so called spider bites received occasionally, and generally in early summer, often in bed, are inflicted by certain blood-sucking insects of several species, large and small. The mandibles of the average sized spiders are hardly powerful enough to pierce the human skin, and all of the poison contained in an arachnid's glands injected into the flesh of a human bing will not make as much fuss as a respectable bee sting. Moreover, spiders are not mammal bloodsuckers and wouldn't bite if they could. So much for the negative qualities of spiders.

If it were not for the spiders we should all promptly starve to death. Perhaps this is a little startling; it is none the less true. To enlarge upon it, certain spiders prey upon certain caterpillars, regularly inhabit their bodies and kill so many of them that often whole colonies of the insects are wiped out of existence. These caterpillars normally feed upon the leaves of trees, bushes and shrubs, frequently entirely denuding a plant. If they were plentiful enough to exhaust their common food they would turn to the weeds and grasses. Without check of any kind they would overrun the earth and destroy every green and growing thing. The spiders beautifully preserve the balance of nature.—H. F. Aaron in Collier's.

The Moods of Musicians.

Before the moods of genius the world must ever bow in awe, for is it not to the wayward wanderings from the normal that inspiration itself is due? says a writer in London Lady. The gloomy moods of Beethoven are traditional, but every time they enwrapped his spirit there flowed from his pen the most noble of scores. Turning to Schubert, we find that it was in the gay moods of the German inn that his genius worked. Under their sway the "Serenade" and many other immortal themes were penned on a tavern table, any scraps of paper being used that came to hand. Paganini was so wholly the victim of moods that it was no unusual thing for an audience to wait in vain for his contribution to a concert program. When due to appear some fantasy of the moment would impel him to remain in his poverty stricken room, grimly toying with the instrument which should have been moving his hearers to tears.

Her Distress.

Mary, aged fourteen, was found one day by an older sister sobbing and crying.

"What is the matter?" she asked, with great concern.

"Three boys have asked me to go to the dance tonight," was the unexpected reply.

"Well, my dear child, certainly that is not such a terrible misfortune."

"Yes, but I told the first one I would go with him, and the last one was a long panter."

Cape of Good Hope.

In 1487 Bartholomew Diaz sailed far enough south along the western coast of Africa not only to descry but to double the Cape of Storms, as it was then called, and as the coast was ascertained to run toward the northeast the prospect of success in the direction of India seemed now so clear that the Portuguese monarch renamed the cape "Cabo de Boa Esperanza," or Cape of Good Hope. The "good hope" was realized in 1498 by Vasco da Gama, who, doubling the southernmost point of Africa, sailed on to Calicut, thus opening up the long dreamed of route to India.

He Wasn't Glad.

Steve Long is noted for attending to his own business and saying very little about it. One morning an iquisitive neighbor met him returning from the woods with his gun over his shoulder.

"Hello, Steve! Where hev ye been—a-shootin'?"

"Yep."

"What ye been a-shootin'?"

"Dog."

"Yer dog? My! Was he mad?"

"Waal, he didn't look so danged well pleased."—Everybody's Magazine.

The Blind Leading the Blind.

Neither Mabel nor Willie has quite mastered the intricacies of English pronunciation, but each delights in correcting the other's mistakes. Last Sunday, while the family was at dinner, Mabel said:

"Please pass the dravy."

Willie saw his chance and quickly exclaimed:

"Well, Mabel: If I couldn't say dravy I'd say drease."—Woman's Home Companion.

MAN OF MILLIONS COMES TO TOWN

PRESIDENT OF ELGIN WATCH CO. PAYS GAINESVILLE A VISIT.

Has Long Had Faith in Florida, Which Has Never Been Shaken, and Owns Property in State.

Among the most prominent visitors of the year to Gainesville is Chas. H. Hulburd of Chicago, president of the Elgin National Watch Company, one of the wealthiest concerns of its kind in the world, who spent Thursday here as a guest of Hon. Henry S. Chubb, his former friend.

Mr. Hulburd resembles more a business man of the ordinary time than the thrice millionaire that he is. He dresses in plain clothes, has the air of a good, clever, fellow—and carries it out—and one would think without knowing that he was just 'an ordinary fellow." His manner is plain, his disposition frank and domestic, and his general appearance would not indicate that he was any more than an ordinary business man, struggling for the existence of a living.

But Mr. Hulburd is greater, because he is at the head of one of the leading watch manufactories of the world.

Mr. Hulburd has always been interested in Florida, and is a friend of the State and its people. He owns Heather Island, a tract embracing 4,000 acres in Marion county, where a large and handsome orange grove existed before the fatal freeze of 1894-5. He is still cultivating the property, however, and was en route to Heather Island, where he will spend the winter.

Bazaar a Success.

The societies of the Presbyterian church wish to thank each and everyone who did their part towards making the Bazaar the grand success it was. To the merchants, as well as the individuals who contributed so generously and so heartily; to The Sun, through whose columns our Bazaar was made known to the public, and which has always been so ready and willing to aid us in this important way; to the Masons we take off our hats—for the use of their magnificent Temple we are thankful and stand pledged to assist them at any time and in every way in our power. To the public who gave us such a grand rush, we do appreciate it so heartily.

To all we extend thanks, and can only say that we are grateful.

A Tiny Baby

Can't tell you in words what the trouble is; but if it's complexion gets pasty, if it gets weaker and weaker, loses flesh and is cross and peevish, you can be certain that it has worms. Give it White's Cream Vermifuge, guaranteed harmless. Expels the worms and puts the baby in a healthy normal condition. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

A Curious Trail.

All sorts of devices have been used to mark a line of march. A unique method of "blazing the trail" is still to be seen in Africa, and a recent publication prints a picture of one of these memorials of the dervish raid. Arthur J. Hayes mentions the subject in his "Source of the Blue Nile."

In 1889, after a fierce battle with the Abyssinians, the dervishes pursued their foes as far as the lake district. The mahdi's men had small knowledge of geography and little topographical intelligence. So the advance party, in order to mark the route for those who came after and also to guide the force on their return journey, twisted the saplings along the way into living knots. The war ended, but the tied up trees grew and flourished, but uncouthly twisted and distorted, and are now the only reminders of that uprising of the dervishes.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, East London, etc.; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

LETTER OF THANKS.

St. Augustine Episcopal Mission is Grateful to Benefactor.

The Sun has been requested to publish the following:

"Gainesville, Fla., Nov. 16, 1909.

"To the Members of the Vestry of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in This City: We, the members of the vestry of St. Augustine's Episcopal Mission in this city, beg to acknowledge, with sincere and grateful hearts, the receipt of the very beautiful and valuable cross you so kindly donated to the Mission church. In fact, the St. Augustine's Mission is indebted to the Christian benevolence of Holy Trinity church for its very existence, and when we reflect upon the kind and sympathetic relation which Holy Trinity has ever sustained towards the Mission church, we cannot but cherish a fond and endeared recollection of Holy Trinity.

"Kind friends, words are inadequate to express how much you have contributed to the uplift of the negro as a race in this community struggling for better conditions and for citizenship, when by your Christian kindness God has made it possible for the race to come in touch with the wholesome influence of the Episcopal Church.

"As we see it, whatever your generous hearts and hands will and can do for the development of the St. Augustine's Mission in this city, it is to mould and foster moral and Christian character in the lives of most needy citizens.

"Again we ask, please accept our sincere and hearty thanks for your kindness. We remain,

"Gratefully yours,
"J. SPEIGHT,
"Minister.

Savona.

The history of Savona is that of a long struggle with the Genoese, ended in the sixteenth century, when they seized the town and rendered its harbor useless by sinking vessels filled with stones at the entrance. In 1746 it was captured by Sardinia, but was soon back again under the control of Genoa. The ancient Savo where Mago stored his booty in the second Punic war, Savona was the birthplace of the popes Sixtus IV. and Julius II. and the home of the ancestors of Columbus, who bestowed its name on one of the first islands he discovered in the West Indies.—London Standard.

Mistake in the Bill.

A gentleman, says Modern Women, who recently returned from a tour in Spain tells this story:

I left Seville on foot after a stay of a week and was twenty miles away when I was overtaken by the landlord of the hotel in which I had stayed. The innkeeper rode beside me for nearly an hour before he found courage to make known his business.

"'If the senor and God please," he began apologetically, "I made a mistake in his bill yesterday."

"How?" I inquired.

"I forgot to make a charge for his candles to light him to bed."

"But it was moonlight, and I had no candles."

"Then, senor, with the help of God, I forgot to charge you with the moonlight."

The charge amounted to 2 cents in American money, and he had hired an ass and ridden twenty miles to collect it. I was amused and astonished. Then I accused him of being a robber and offered him a cent to settle the bill. He worked up a beautiful smile and held out his hand.

"I will take it, with thanks, senor," he said. "God will bless you for an honest man!"

ABSTRACT

Is something a real estate investor will never do without—it's his sole protection against a faulty title. Why not have us draw you up an abstract of your prospective investment so that you'll not be buying something "in the dark?" The cost is certainly nominal—and when compared with the amount involved looks ridiculous indeed to do without it.

Accurate, complete work.

TRIAL BY RICE.

Why Suspected Criminals In Bengal Are Treated.

They have peculiar methods of trying suspects in Bengal. One of these is called "trial by rice," says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. After a theft had been consulted as to an auspicious day every person suspected and those who were usually near the house at night were ordered to be present at 10 o'clock that morning. On the date all turned up. First the suspects were made to sit in a semi-circle, and a "plate" (a square of plantain leaf) was set before each. Then the priest walked up and down chanting and scattering flowers. These said flowers, by the way, must be picked by a Brahman and they must be those which are facing the sun. This ceremony over, one of the clerks went to each man and gave him about two ounces of dry raw rice and told him to chew it to a pulp. Then commenced what looked like a chewing match. After about ten minutes had elapsed they were told to stop and eject it into the plantain leaf. All did so easily with the exception of three men. In the case of these three the chewed rice had in two cases become slightly thickened, but not sufficiently so to allow of its being easily ejected, and they had much ado to get rid of it. The third man had chewed his into paste, and it came out as such, perfectly dry. One of these three men promptly commenced to cry and begged for mercy, confessing everything and stating that man No. 3, who had acted as the kind of flour mill, was the chief instigator. It is a curious fact that fear, arising from an evil conscience, prevents saliva coming to the mouth, with the result described.

GOOD IN SPIDERS.

They Don't Bite and Do Kill Many Injurious Insects.

I think it can be said that there never has been one absolutely authenticated case of spider bite. The so called spider bites received occasionally, and generally in early summer, often in bed, are inflicted by certain blood-sucking insects of several species, large and small. The mandibles of the average sized spiders are hardly powerful enough to pierce the human skin, and all of the poison contained in an arachnid's glands injected into the flesh of a human bing will not make as much fuss as a respectable bee sting. Moreover, spiders are not animal bloodsuckers and wouldn't bite if they could. So much for the negative qualities of spiders.

If it were not for the spiders we should all promptly starve to death. Perhaps this is a little startling; it is none the less true. To enlarge upon it, certain spiders prey upon certain caterpillars, regularly inhabit their webs and kill so many of them that often whole colonies of the insects are wiped out of existence. These caterpillars normally feed upon the leaves of trees, bushes and shrubs, frequently entirely denuding a plant. If they were plentiful enough to exhaust their common food they would turn to the weeds and grasses. Without check of any kind they would overrun the earth and destroy every green and growing thing. The spiders beautifully preserve the balance of nature.—S. P. Aaron in Collier's.

L. C. SMITH.

The Moods of Musicians.

Before the moods of genius the world must ever bow in awe, for is it not to the wayward wanderings from the normal that inspiration itself is due? says a writer in London Lady. The gloomy moods of Beethoven are traditional, but every time they enwrapped his spirit there flowed from his pen the most noble of scores. Turning to Schubert, we find that it was in the gay moods of the German inn that his genius worked. Under their sway the "Serenade" and many other immortal themes were penned on a tavern table, any scraps of paper being used that came to hand. Paganini was so wholly the victim of moods that it was no unusual thing for an audience to wait in vain for his contribution to a concert program. When due to appear some fantasy of the moment would impel him to remain in his poverty stricken room, grimly toying with the instrument which should have been moving his hearers to tears.

Her Distress.

Mary, aged fourteen, was found one day by an older sister sobbing and crying.

"What is the matter?" she asked, with great concern.

"Three boys have asked me to go to the dance tonight," was the unexpected reply.

"Well, my dear child, certainly that is not such a terrible misfortune."

"Yes, but I told the first one I would go with him, and the last one was a long panter."

When you have a cold the first thing to do is have the bowels move. Do not take anything that may constipate—and most old fashioned cough cures do constipate. Try Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It drives the cold from the system by a free yet gentle action of the bowels; it stops the cough, it is pleasant to take. Children like it. Sold by all druggists.

Never.

Cape of Good Hope.

In 1487 Bartholomew Diaz sailed far enough south along the western coast of Africa not only to descry but to double the Cape of Storms, as it was then called, and as the coast was ascertained to run toward the northeast the prospect of success in the direction of India seemed now so clear that the Portuguese monarch renamed the cape "Cabo de Boa Esperanza," or Cape of Good Hope. The "good hope" was realized in 1498 by Vasco da Gama, who, doubling the southernmost point of Africa, sailed on to Calicut, thus opening up the long dreamed of route to India.

He Wasn't Glad.

Steve Long is noted for attending to his own business and saying very little about it. One morning an iquisitive neighbor met him returning from the woods with his gun over his shoulder.

"Hello, Steve! Where hev ye been—a-shootin'?"

"Yep."

"What ye been a-shootin'?"

"Dog."

"Yer dog? My! Was he mad?"

"Waal, he didn't look so danged well pleased."—Everybody's Magazine.

The Blind Leading the Blind.

Neither Mabel nor Willie has quite mastered the intricacies of English pronunciation, but each delights in correcting the other's mistakes. Last Sunday, while the family was at dinner, Mabel said:

"Please pass the dravy."

Willie saw his chance and quickly exclaimed:

"Well, Mabel! If I couldn't say dravy I'd say drease."—Woman's Home Companion.
